States above the national average of birth rate

903. SHRIMATI RENUKA CHOWDHURY: Will the Minister of HEALTH AND FAMILY WELFARE be pleased to state:

(a) what is the number of States in the country which are above the national average of birth rates;

(b) what is the number of States that have achieved better results and the factors responsible for this; and

(c) what measures are being taken by Government to ensure effective implementation of the family planning programme, so as to bring down birth rates as contemplated in the Seventh Five Year Plan documents?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH IN THE MINISTRY OF HEALTH AND FAMILY WELFARE (KUMARI SAROJ KHAPARDE): (a) and (b) The latest available estimates of Birth Rate from Sample Registration System of Registrar General, India relates to the year 1984. A statement containing state-wise and All India Birth Rates for 1984 is given (see below) Seven States and two Union Territories have the birth rates above the national level. Various Studies reveal that socio-economic factors such as age at marriage, female literacy and infant mortality rate, besides the intervention through contraception influence levels of Birth Rate among the States.

(c) Government has prepared a well defined strategy to achieve the goals set under the family welfare programme. The main features of the strategy are: developing multi-sectoral linkages between the Family Welfare and other socio-economic developmental programmes; professionalising the information, Education and Communication activities; ensuring full community participation by constitution of popular committees; Improving programme management and adopting differential area and group specific approaches; and Improving technical quality of services: In addition, States have been advised to organise family planning campaigns periodically with a view to improving programme performance.
